Text: Thomas' Calculus, Early Transcendentals, 11th edition, by Thomas, et al.

Calculator: A graphing calculator is required for the course. I will be using the TI-83 Plus.

Course Description: Math 172 is intended for students majoring in business, economics, mathematics, science, or technology. The course covers the theory, techniques, and applications of differentiation of elementary algebraic and transcendental functions.

Course Goals: Upon successful completion of the course, the student will be able to:

- utilize graphical, numerical, and algebraic techniques in solving a variety of problems relating to the concept of the derivative.
- communicate verbally and in writing one's understanding of mathematical concepts to others.

Course Policies:

Attendance: Daily attendance is expected and considered necessary for success. Please bring the text and a calculator to each class meeting. You are responsible for any announcements made during class regarding homework, quizzes, and exams.

Homework: Daily homework will be assigned but not collected. As the assigned problems will form the basis for quizzes and exams, it is to your advantage (and responsibility) to keep up with the homework.

Quizzes: There will be several quizzes worth 15 points each which will be announced in advance. Your top five quiz scores will be counted toward your course grade.

Exams: There will be three 100-point exams announced in advance. If you miss an exam and have not made prior arrangements with me, a score of "0" will be recorded.

Final Exam: A comprehensive 125-point final exam is scheduled for Tuesday, March 17, 8:00-10:00.

Course Grade: Total points for your course grade will be based upon the following:

Quizzes (15 points each)75 points (15%)Three exams (100 points each)300 points (60%)Comprehensive Final125 points (25%)Total500 points

Course grades will be assigned based upon the following scale:

I reserve the right to adjust the above scale (in the student's favor) if deemed appropriate.
